Providence, R. I., Nov. 29.—United States Senator George Peabody Wetmore will not be a candidate for re-election when his present term in the Senate expires in March, 1913. Senator Wetmore is chairman of the library committee and a member of the appropriations, geological survey, Mississippi river and its tributaries, naval affairs, public buildings and grounds, university of the United States and woman suffrage committees.

2,500 TROOPS OFFERED

Nanking Withstood Attack To-day.

Nanking, China, Nov. 29.—A concerted attack on the gates of the city by the revolutionists to-day failed, and the revolutionists were forced to retire with heavy losses. The commander of the imperial troops retains full possession of the city. Further activities are expected to be made to-night.

HORRIBLE BATH WARNING.

Many Disease Germs Float About in Common Pools.

Boston, Nov. 29.—That a swimming pool open to use by many persons becomes contaminated with bacteria from the bodies of the swimmers, and sometimes transmits serious infectious diseases, was announced in an address last night by J. W. Bunker, instructor in sanitary engineering at Harvard university. Disinfection of the water of swimming pools with minute quantities of chlorine of lime was advised.

Various diseases of the nose and throat, said Mr. Bunker, seem to have been traced to infection from the use of swimming pools.

Describing some experiments carried on in England, Mr. Bunker said, a stoker was bathed in warm water without soap for three minutes. Analysis of the bath water showed that he had added to every cubic centimeter of water approximately 2,000 bacteria which is equivalent to 1,000,000 for every pint. Washing a dirty male hospital patient gave a yield of twenty-five thousand million; a smooth-skinned "clean" man yielded only three thousand million; while a hairy-skinned, individual lost fourteen thousand million. The feet of a boy in the corridor, who was about to enter the pool, yielded only eight million.

REMEMBER NOTED ABOLITIONIST.

Boston Had Exercises On Centenary of Birth of Wendell Phillips.

Boston, Nov. 29.—Appropriate exercises were held to-day in celebration of the centenary of the birth of Wendell Phillips, a native of Boston and one of the distinguished abolitionists. Beginning at sunrise with a service at the tomb of Phillips, the program provided for a fitting tribute to the memory of the champion of liberty.

Observance of the anniversary began last night with a meeting in Park street church, at which Wendell Phillips Stafford, associate justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, delivered an oration. Judge Stafford is the grandson of a Massachusetts abolitionist who was a devoted follower of Phillips.

CARDINALS RECEIVED BY POPE.

Kissed His Hand and Foot and Received Red Biretta.

Rome, Nov. 29.—All the new cardinals, including the American prelates, Mgrs. Falconio, Farley and O'Connell, went to the Vatican to-day and were introduced into the presence of the pontiff. Pope Pius permitted each cardinal to kiss his hand and foot. Afterwards he imposed upon each the red biretta as the first tangible proof of their supreme dignity.

Cardinal Falconio being dean of the newly created cardinals, delivered an address, warmly thanking the pope, presenting his respectful homage and placing the services of the new cardinals at the complete disposal of the pontiff. The pontiff thanked the cardinals and congratulated Cardinal O'Connell.

James Veale of Maple avenue leaves the city to-night for Westbury, R. I., where he will pass a few days with friends, after which he will go to New York City, leaving there December 9 for his former home in Constantine, Cornwall, Eng., to remain during the winter.

HISSING INDULGED IN.

There Were Sneezing Spells Also and Some Cries of "Rotten" Last Night.

New York, Nov. 29.—There was only an echo last night of the rioting which accompanied the performance of "The Play Boy of the Western World" in its initial performance here Monday night, when disturbances were raised and missiles thrown at the actors. Shortly after the start of the piece last night when the scene was reached that was considered the most objectionable by those who thought that it libelled the Irish race, a whistling stream of hisses was again evoked. The burst of applause that came simultaneously, however, practically counterbalanced the opposing demonstration and thereafter throughout the evening the audience was more moved to applause than to expressions of disapprobation.

Seven men in all were ejected from the theatre during the evening, some of them for excessive sneezing, which led the 30 plain clothes men sprinkled among the audience to suspect that they were carrying some mischief making substance. During the last act the hissing was more pronounced than at any time after the early scene and there were some cries of "rotten!" and similar expletives from the upper house.

The presence of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who occupied a box with Lady Gregory, the patroness of the Irish players, was observed from all parts of the house and the colonel was loudly applauded when he left the theatre. He took dinner with Lady Gregory before the performance. At the close of the play the colonel would not discuss it in any way.

Late yesterday a committee of well-known Irishmen called on Mayor Gaynor and asked him to stop the production of the "Sergeant" comedy. He said that he would delegate Chief Magistrate McAdoo to attend the performance and report to him. After the curtain had gone down last night, Mr. McAdoo, asked as to the report he would make, said that if his only mission was to decide if the play was "immoral" his task was "an easy one." The audience filled the playhouse to its capacity.

ROOSEVELT "BARGAIN" WAS ALLUDED TO

Testimony Before Senate Committee Made a Sensation, as It Implicated Former President With Financial Interests.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—Warton Barker, a retired banker of Philadelphia, sprang a sensation on the Senate committee on interstate commerce yesterday, when he alleged that a New York financier told him in 1904 that the financial interests would support President Roosevelt for president because the latter had made a bargain "with them on the railroad question."

Mr. Barker's statement came in the midst of an attack on the "money trust" in which he alleged also that President Roosevelt had been given the details of the impending panic of 1907 several months before it happened, but took no action to prevent it. He declared that the Aldrich currency plan was the handiwork, not of former Senator Aldrich, but of Mr. Warburton of the banking firm of Kahn, Loeb & Co., of New York; and that a fund of $1,000,000 had been started to insure its adoption.

"Three or four weeks before the election in 1904," said Mr. Barker, "I was walking down Broadway, when I met one of the most distinguished money kings in New York, a man now dead. He said to me, 'We are going to elect Roosevelt.' I expressed surprise and asked if he had given up the support of Parker. He said that he had made a bargain with Roosevelt so he had made a bargain with them."

Members of the committee looked somewhat incredulous and Mr. Barker added: "I wish Mr. Roosevelt were here." "I wish he were," said Senator Townsend; "it would be interesting."

Mr. Barker said the financial giant, whom he declined to name, told that Roosevelt had "made a bargain on the railroad question."

Mr. Barker continued: "He is to holler all he wants to," he told me, "but by and by a railroad bill will be brought in by recommendation of the president cutting off rebates and free passes, which suits us, who own the railroads; permitting the railroads to make pooling arrangements and providing for maximum rates."

The railroad man added, said Mr. Barker, that under the latter authority it would be possible to add from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 to the total freight charges paid by the American public.

"I told him I didn't believe Roosevelt had made any such agreement," said Mr. Barker, "but when the annual message of 1905 went to Congress he recommended most of those things. I wrote to President Roosevelt and told him what I heard, and that I had thought the man lied, but now I must believe he had not. It was the only letter of mine Mr. Roosevelt failed to answer."

CALLED IT NONSENSE.

Roosevelt Refused to Make Further Comment on Testimony.

New York, Nov. 29.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, while attending the theatre last night, was shown the synopsis of Wharton Barker's testimony in Washington yesterday before the Senate committee on interstate commerce, in which Colonel Roosevelt's name figured prominently. He read the statement carefully and then declared:

"I would as soon discuss a pipe dream with an out-patient of bedlam as discuss such nonsense."

Colonel Roosevelt would not add to this statement, only repeating it later with added emphasis, if anything, when pressed by other questioners for additional expression.

Roberts, wife of Congressman Roberts. Then they will go to Washington and later to the South to spend the winter.

TOLD TO DROP INVESTIGATION

Of Controller Bay Affair as It Is Not Necessary

TAFT POLICY IS CHANGED

Chairman Graham of the House Committee Intimates That Committee May Go Further Than Secretary Fisher Recommends.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—On the ground that the administration has substantially changed its Alaskan policy, Attorney L. D. Brandeis, counsel for the House committee on interior department expenditures, has advised Chairman Graham that no further action by that committee investigating the Controller Bay affair is necessary. Chairman Graham said that the committee very materially aided in effecting this change of policy and added: "The committee may go further than Secretary of the Interior Fisher and recommend retaining to the government the title to all mineral, gas and oil lands in Alaska."

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE IS ABOUT PREPARED

Will Contain Over 5,000 Words and Will Be Devoted to the "Trust" Question Largely.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—President Taft's third annual message, which goes to Congress next Tuesday, will be devoted to the "trust" question. The message contains from 5,000 to 6,000 words, and, with the exception of a few references in a general way to other related subjects, will deal with the question of industrial combinations alone.

Although details of the message were not made public, it was understood last night that federal incorporation, as outlined by Mr. Taft two years ago, will be suggested again as a method for solution of the problem. The president has indicated his aversion to amendment of the Sherman anti-trust act, and from his talks with callers last night, the inference was drawn that there is no suggestion of such amendment in the message.

"I've put all my eggs in one basket," the president said to callers.

In sending an annual message to Congress devoted to one subject alone, the president is establishing a precedent. It is usual for the chief executive to point out the needs of all sorts of legislation and give in brief form the history of the past year so far as the government is concerned. This will be done away with in the present message, and later on Mr. Taft will send special messages to Congress dealing with important subjects.

The president expects to discuss the tariff in a separate message to be written after Dec. 12. The tariff board, it was said last night, will not be able to make its report in the wool and cotton schedules until then and the message will not be undertaken until that report is ready.

Conservation, including the development of Alaska, will be dealt with either in a separate message or in one that takes in many subjects exclusive of the trusts and the tariff. In addition to these suggestions to Congress, Mr. Taft hopes to send in reports of the postal commission, the economy and efficiency commission, and possibly others, before the usual holiday adjournment.

The trust message was finally revised by the cabinet at a five hour session yesterday. All through a gloomy, rainy afternoon, the cabinet members discussed the document that most of them regard as the most important Mr. Taft has ever written for the benefit of Congress.

Owing to the length of the session, there were many rumors that there had been a serious disagreement in Mr. Taft's official family. These were denied by a majority of the cabinet and by the president himself in conversation with visitors. Most of the points in the message had been gone over before, and yesterday's session had to do more with phraseology, it was said, than with definite policy.

It was long after dark when the cabinet was over, and Mr. Taft stayed behind, in danger of missing dinner at the White House, to look over the last proofs as they came from the government printing office.

UNKNOWN MAN KILLED.

Man Found Under Railroad Bridge at Norwood, Mass., Last Night.

Norwood, Mass., Nov. 29.—Some mysterious attacks to the death of an unknown man whose body was found on Washington-Haven and Hartford railroad bridge last night. It was at first thought that the man had been struck by a train while walking on the railroad tracks overhead, but persons have been found who say that they saw a fast-moving automobile containing four men dash by the spot near where the man was found a few moments later, and the police are investigating the theory that the man may have met his death by the automobile. He was about five feet, four inches tall, 38 or 40 years old, and had a thin red moustache, with light hair.

No marks of identification were found on his clothing, except possibly a ruler with the initials "F. W. B." It is not known whether these were the man's initials or those of a paper company in this town.

MEXICO WANTS RECIPROCITY

With United States and Will Consider It When It Is Practicable.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—Reciprocity with the United States will be one of the important problems considered by Mexico as soon as conditions in that country are more settled, according to Crespo Y. Martinez, Mexican ambassador to the United States. He said that a sentiment in favor of closer trade relations with the United States was general in Mexico.

OWNERSHIP BY GOVERNMENT.

Was Subject of Railroad Talk By Public Service Commissioner Jackson.

The Pilgrim brotherhood of the Congregational church held a largely attended meeting in the church parlors last evening. S. Hollister Jackson, one of the members of the Vermont public service commission, gave an interesting address on "Government Ownership." The history of railroad was graphically described and the present trend of public opinion, together with the sentiment of prominent men who are connected with the practical side of railroading, was cited to show that we have already come very close to public ownership. The speaker closed with a strong plea for public ownership of this method of transportation. Following his remarks, the brotherhood tendered Mr. Jackson a vote of thanks.

A short business session opened with the presenting of the following names by the nominating committee, a unanimous acceptance being in order: President, Guy R. Varnum; vice president, Marshall S. Rounds; secretary, John Booth; treasurer, Azro L. Noyes. The secretary of the organization formally cast a ballot for each officer elected.

During the evening a male quartette consisting of Richard Veale, James Robertson, Harry W. Quimby and W. H. Messer gave several selections, which were loudly cheered. The meeting was later adjourned to the dining room, where a delicious lunch was served. Plans are being formed by the executive committee of the brotherhood for an address by one of the leading men of the state at an early date. For the winter months, the board expects to have a strong list of public men to address the brotherhood on timely topics.

2,000 BUCKS KILLED SAYS LAST REPORT

Commissioner Titcomb States That Windsor County Is the Leader with 267 Animals and Grand Isle the Smallest.

St. Johnsbury, Nov. 29.—Up to 2 o'clock yesterday the returns received at the office of State Fish and Game Commissioner J. W. Titcomb, at Lyndonville, indicate that 2,000 bucks were shot during the open season.

Windsor county is now the banner county of the state, there being 267 deer shot in that county. The smallest record is Grand Isle, with only one. Commissioner Titcomb thinks that the law has been better observed this year than usual, as only about 100 does were killed. Returns indicate that the deer in Vermont are larger than those in states where shooting is more common.

A great many of the deer killed weighed more than 300 pounds. The largest was in Rutland county and weighed 417 pounds. More deer than usual were killed in Essex county and the feeling is that people there are regarding the law as they have not formerly.

The summary by counties is as follows: Addison 113, Bennington 176, Caledonia 81, Chittenden 48, Essex 10, Franklin 43, Grand Isle 1, Lamoille 122, Orange 98, Orleans 1, Rutland 210, Washington 181, Windham 205, Windsor 267.

CATHOLICS NEEDN'T ATTEND

Chapel Exercises in Burlington High School Is the Order.

Burlington, Nov. 29.—Roman Catholic pupils will no longer be obliged to attend the devotional exercises in the Burlington high school, following a meeting Sunday night at St. Mary's cathedral, at which the Rev. J. F. Gillis forbade the children attending such exercises. Upon learning that these students had been forbidden to attend the exercises, Principal M. D. Chittenden announced to the scholars at a meeting yesterday that a study room would be fitted up for them where they could spend the time which has heretofore been passed in chapel. This, he said last evening, was in accordance with his policy of never obliging a student to attend exercises against which he had conscientious or religious scruples.

This policy will be followed permanently, unless the school board directs differently. Mr. Chittenden stated that the exercises have always consisted of a recitation of the Lord's prayer, the reading of a chapter from the Bible, usually a psalm, and the singing of a hymn or other sacred music. In addition to this, there are sometimes short talks on current topics dealing with civic government or literary or similar subjects. Any sectarian subjects have always been carefully avoided.

Verdict of Guilty in Trial of Vincenzo Corra.

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 29.—It took the jury but ten minutes to reach a verdict of guilty yesterday in the trial of Vincenzo Corra, charged with the murder of Mrs. Mary Hall at a farm house near Croton lake on Nov. 9 last.

Two days later five men alleged to have been the bandits who killed Mrs. Hall in an effort to have her disclose the whereabouts of a large sum of insurance money were arrested; they were indicted two days later; Corra, the alleged leader of the bandits, was placed on trial Monday. The defense presented no witnesses.

The trial of two more of the alleged bandits will be begun to-day with a guard of aqueduct police still in duty at the court house to prevent friends of the accused men from carrying out threats which they have made in letters to the prosecuting attorney.

The hospital is given two large farms near Enosburg and the Warner home is given one farm lying between Enosburg and Berkshire. NEW GRANITE PLANT.

Brown, Carroll & Co. to Build at Once Off Depot Square.

The granite manufacturing firm of Brown, Carroll & Co. is preparing to erect a commodious plant on land off Depot square, recently acquired from the city, and extending a little distance on Central Vermont land which will be leased. The latter-boards for the new building are in place, and the firm expects to be able to move in by February 15, leaving its present building on Blackwell street, which is inadequate for the demands of the growing business.

The location of the proposed plant is one of the most advantageous in the city, occupying part of the site of the old Vermont Granite Co.'s plant and being close to the tracks of the Central Vermont railroad, as well as being in the center of the city.

The main building will be 202 feet long and at its widest point will be 64 feet and three inches wide. On one side there will be a wing for the air compressor, blacksmith shop, boiler, boxing and grinding room. The covered stockroom room will be 78 feet long and so situated that there will be entrance for both trains and teams. The cutting part of the plant will be large enough to accommodate four gangs of men.

In equipment the plant will be up-to-date, having a 15-ton crane, two polishing wheels, besides being steam-heated. The company's offices will be located on the end toward Depot square. Although the firm of Brown, Carroll & Co. has been organized only three years it has built up a good business, in fact, so large that the old quarters on Blackwell street were outgrown.

ANSWERED HURRY CALL.

Policeman Carle Went to the City Limits For Two Men.

Officer George Carle answered a hurry call to the city limits near South Barre yesterday afternoon and arrested John Leonard of Hardwick and Charles Evans of Montpelier. The men had been indulging in a lengthy brawl which so alarmed the neighbors that police assistance was necessary. In city court this morning, Leonard pleaded guilty to a first offense of intoxication before Judge H. W. Scott. He was fined $5 and costs of $6.04, which he was unable to pay. An officer took him to jail later in the forenoon to serve the alternate sentence of twenty days.

Evans was the second man to face Judge Scott and he returned a plea of not guilty to a charge of intoxication, subsequent offense. His case was continued until December 7, the respondent being remanded to the county jail in Montpelier to await the trial. Evans is said to have contributed more than his share of history to different justice and police courts in Washington county, and it is understood that an effort will be made to have him committed to Waterbury for observation.
